These videos are beneficial for beginners to make web pages. These videos have given me a lot of knowledge about creating web pages, such as layout, typography, and organization. Take the layout as an example. The creator uses five points to analyze how to make a layout. Box Model, Inline VS. Block, Positioning, Floats, Fixed VS. Fluid. And I learned Box Model contains four elements: content, padding, border, margin. These are things I haven't learned before. The producer also described the role of these elements through very interesting metaphors. He compared the Box Model to the structure of human beings, and different elements represent different organs. He described it as very visual and easy to understand.
