Reading 4: Web Work: A HISTORY OF INTERNET ART

Based on reading about Net. Art, I found many interesting histories of the internet of Art. Net.art came from an alphanumeric gibberish email which eventually turned into online art. Adding on the evolution of net art, it became associated with the text, pictures, emails, and etc.

From 1994 to 1998, net art grew where people then formed their own art-oriented communities. Where many net. art websites such as Rhizome and Syndicate were created. Therefore, the online communities grew lively and eventually expanded creativity. Many American corporations used net.art in their own businesses.
